Company and Union Sign New Contract Affecting 23,000 Employes.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., June 12—Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and the CIO United Rubber Workers signed a companywide contract today providing for 11-cent-an-hour wage increases for 23,000 employes.

The contract was Firestone's first companywide pact with the URW which has such agreements with Goodyear, U. S. Rubber and Goodrich, the other members of the rubber industry's big four.

The settlement was the first in the big four of union demands for the 1948 wage increases.

The union originally asked 30 cents an hour more.

Goodyear and U. S. Rubber are currently engaged in negotiations and Goodrich employes have agreed to take a strike vote next Wednesday as a result of a breakdown of bargaining sessions in Philadelphia last week.

The new master contract is effective Monday and extends to March 1, 1950, with a provision permitting reopening of the provision on wages upon 60 days notice after next April 14.

The 23,000 employes affected are in Firestone plants here and in Memphis, Pottstown, Pa., Fall River, Mass., Los Angeles, Noblesville and Newcastle, Ind., and Des Moines.

Eight weeks of negotiations preceded the agreement reached early today in Cleveland as announced here.

The contract described by the principals as the "first major contract between the parties" covered in addition to the wage boosts the check-off, vacation program, seniority, severance pay, pay for holidays not worked, overtime, arbitration procedure and other provisions which were left largely unchanged from current arrangements.

Electrical Workers Accept GE Raise

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 12—Leaders of the CIO United Electrical Workers have accepted an eight per cent wage increase for 125,000 employes of the General Electric Co.

The settlement yesterday brought to an end 17 weeks of negotiations between the union and the nation's largest manufacturer of electrical products.

The wage boost, which the company says will add nine to more than 15 cents hourly to the workers' current average pay of $55.99 weekly, becomes effective immediately.

Almost simultaneously with approval of the GE wage offer, the union announced in Pittsburgh it has turned down a six per cent wage hike proposed by the Westinghouse Electric Corp. for 75,000 employes.

Edward J. Matthews, international union representative, said the Westinghouse offer would give workers "an increase in take-home pay far below increases" granted by other electrical manufacturers.

The accord with General Electric came three days after the company advanced its wage offer.

A 100-member union conference board, representing members in 97 GE plants across the country, voted to recommend acceptance by the locals.

The union said a membership vote approving the agreement is expected by June 25.

UE President Albert J. Fitzgerald said the settlement did not solve the problems of workers in the "lower-paid brackets," but that it was "an important step forward for labor in 1948."

AMERICAN LEADER OF ISRAELI KILLED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 12—Col. David Marcus, an American hero of World War II and supreme commander of Israel's military forces on the Jerusalem front, has been killed in the Holy Land fighting.

The 47-year-old West Pointer-trained officer was felled Thursday night—a few hours before the Palestine cease-fire order became effective.

A former New York City official, he was twice decorated by the United States government during the war.

He saw service in nearly every theater of operations, helped draft the surrender terms for Italy and Germany and was a legal aide to the U. S. delegations at Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, Tehran and Potsdam.

News of his death came from David Ben Gurion, Israel's prime minister and was announced yesterday by New York representatives of the provisional Jewish government.

It was the first death officially recorded by the Israeli government of a former high-ranking U. S. Army officer although several former American soldiers have died in Palestine while serving with Zionist troops.

ARTIST'S DRAWING OF CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

* * *

A combination homecoming and building dedication program will be held by Central Christian church Sunday with all former members and ministers invited to return for the occasion, Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor, announced. The congregation recently purchased Etowah on Mt. Vernon avenue, the former King-Brown home.

Dr. Harry Bell, former minister and now pastor of the Columbia Heights Christian church in Washington, D. C., will preach at the morning worship service at 9:30. The service is to be on the lawn at the rear of the church, but in case of inclement weather it will be held inside and a public address system will be used. Because of this special occasion, Rev. Johnston has announced that the regular late worship service at 11:15 a. m. will be omitted Sunday morning only. Special music will be by the girls' ensemble singing "Panis Angelicus."

During the adult worship hour, the Junior-Intermediate departments will hold a separate service. At this service a sermon will be preached by Rev. Herald Monroe of Cleveland, state secretary of the Disciples of Christ of Ohio.

A class period at 10:45 will follow the worship service.

At noon, a basket dinner under the supervision of the Women's Council, will be served on the church lawn.

The afternoon service will begin at 2 p. m. There will be greetings extended by various organizations and visiting church delegations. Rev. Melvin Keeran, pastor of the Caledonia Church of Christ and former elder of this congregation will bring the opening address. The sermon of dedication for the church building will be preached by Rev. Herald Monroe. The building was first occupied in November, 1947 after the congregation had sold its original building to the Church of the Nazarene. On May 1 after the Hoover Brown family moved out of the east side of the building the congregation expanded its activities into the entire building.

Following Rev. Monroe's sermon, Rolland Sheafor, treasurer of the denomination's board of church extension in Indianapolis, will make an announcement concerning the gifts and offerings made for the building. Rev. Eldred Johnston, the pastor, will then lead the congregation in the ritual of dedication. Elmer Weimer, chairman of the official board will preside at the afternoon service.

Trio To Sing.

Music will be by a trio composed of Miss Helen Thew, Miss Marybelle Eberhart and David Heisler. They will sing "Bless This House."

A vesper service will be held at 7 p. m. with Ray Bosh, former deacon of the congregation and now pastor of the Christian Church, Mantua, Ohio, preaching the sermon. Mrs. Francis Schill will sing a solo, "In the Garden" by Miles.

An open house at the parsonage at 310 Bellefontaine avenue, will be held from 3 to 11 o'clock. Rev. and Mrs. Johnston will receive members and friends of the congregation.

Rail Exemption Bill Is Vetoed

Bulwinkle Measure Turned Down by Truman Who Refers to "Anti-Trust."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12 — President Truman today vetoed the controversial Bulwinkle bill to exempt railroad rate agreements from anti-trust law prosecution under certain conditions.

Returning the bill to the senate the president said he rejected it "because it would permit an important segment of the economy to obtain immunity from the anti-trust laws."

He said such immunity would be granted "without providing adequate safeguards to protect the public interest."

Depended on ICC Approval

The measure would have exempted from the anti-trust laws agreements between carriers on rates, fares, classifications, and allowances, provided they were approved by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The president said anti-trust cases are now pending before the courts "challenging some of the very activities which would be covered by this bill" and added:

"Pending judicial clarification of the issues raised in these proceedings, it would be inappropriate to provide the immunity proposed by this bill."

The president said he had repeatedly urged upon congress the necessity for a "vigorous anti-monopoly program."

"This bill would be inconsistent with such a program."

The President said even the "limited safeguards" incorporated in the bill as originally passed by the senate are omitted from the bill in its present form.

Sees Harm To Public

Mr. Truman contended that under the bill groups of railroads, acting through rate bureaus could exercise "a powerful deterrent influence upon the filing by an individual carrier of proposed rates which might benefit the public."

"The exercise by private groups of this substantial control over the transportation industry," he asserted, "involves serious potential harm to the public."

SOVIETS BLOCK FREIGHT FROM WEST GERMANY

Agree To Restore Traffic to Berlin, and Consent to 4-Nation Meeting.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, June 12—The Russians blocked freight shipments from the western occupation zones of Germany throughout the night but agreed to restore the traffic to Berlin, U. S. and British officials announced.

An American official said the Russians consented to discuss the whole question of Berlin freight at a special meeting of Russian, American, British and French transport officials Monday.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor, said earlier he would reinstate the Frankfurt-Berlin air ferry if necessary to get supplies to the Germans and Americans in the U. S. sector of the city. The air lift was used in last April's Soviet - engineered transportation crisis.

Trains from the western zones must pass through the Soviet zone of occupation west of Berlin in order to reach this city. The Soviet check point is at the border of the Russian and British zones. Americans and French traffic as well as British traffic bound for Berlin passes that check point.

Will Release Trains

Six British trains which were held up in the Soviet zone after the new order became effective last night will be released and sent to Berlin as soon as locomotives can be provided for them, the British said. The Russians also agreed to permit normal traffic over the route through the Russian zone by 18 daily trains. There is a heavy backlog because of trains held up by the Soviet order, however.

There are 2,000,000 Germans and 25,000 Americans, French and British in the western sectors of the city who would be seriously affected by a stoppage of freight shipments.

Clay said the Soviet suspension of traffic came without warning. U. S. officials said earlier they were weighing the situation to determine whether it was another move to squeeze the Western Allies out of Berlin or was just new Soviet red tape of the type which has snarled communications before this.

Reports Train Stalled

Clay told a news conference a freight train from the American zone was stalled this afternoon at the Anhalter railway station in Berlin.

British officials said the Russians contended they had to embargo freight shipments into Berlin because the city was congested. The British retorted that they were not aware of any congestion and demanded that the embargo be lifted immediately.

Trains were stopped at the Helmstedt - Marienborn control point on the border of the Brit-

DEFY HUMMEL ON CHARGE THEY'RE REDS

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, June 12—Three Greater Cleveland supporters of Henry A. Wallace defied Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel to prove them Communists.

The three, David Sindell, Mrs. Elsie Zazrivy and Nathan R. Zahm, administrative director of the Ohio Wallace for President committee, were among a group of 10 who signed affidavits filed with the secretary of state denying their party was engaged in subversive activities.

Hummel labeled all three Communists yesterday before the Ohio supreme court in explaining his barring of Wallace's third party from the Ohio ballot under a law banning "parties of groups engaged in un-American activities."

Sindell, an attorney, threatened court action and stated Hummel would have a chance to prove his allegations in libel suit.

Mrs. Zazrivy, office manager of Wallace headquarters in Cleveland, described Hummel's charges as a "preview of the Mundt-Nixon bill." She added, "It is up to Hummel to comment on these charges. I don't have to prove anything one way or the other."

In a formal statement, Zahm declared:

"The Ohio Wallace for President committee will continue to devote its full energies toward election of Henry A. Wallace as president in November, and will not be sidetracked by the childish practice of name-calling by one little man in Columbus."

Golf Club Is Handy In Routing Burglar

By The United Press

HOLLYWOOD, June 11—Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., British amateur golf champion, used a No. 3 iron today to captured an intruder in his hotel room.

Awakening to find a stranger going through the pockets of his suit, Stranahan leaped out of bed, grabbed the golf club and bellowed:

"Make one move and I'll knock your head off."

Stranahan is here for the U. S. Open golf tournament.

The intruder, identified later as Sylvan Wade Smith, 30, stood still until officers arrived.

"How did I get in this room," Smith asked on his way to the Hollywood police station. "I must have been drunk."

He was booked on suspicion of burglary.

CALL LIQUOR PROBE WITNESS

Prosecutor Orders VFW Athletic Director Before Grand Jury.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—The explosive state liquor department probe—which already has produced indictments for three men—held promise of new excitement today.

Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett, who is leading the investigation by a Franklin county grand jury said a new subpoena will be issued for Daniel Diloreto of Ravenna.

Diloreto, an athletic director for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told the state liquor control board a week ago that he had been solicited for $3,000 by a state liquor inspector he refused to identify.

Prosecutor Bartlett first subpoenaed Diloreto through Sheriff George E. Shields of Portage county but Diloreto failed to appear Thursday as scheduled. Sheriff Shields said the man was out of the city.

Oppenheimer Takes Leave

While the grand jury paused in his continuing investigation, A. E. Oppenheimer, chief permit examiner of the state liquor department, asked and obtained a six month leave from Liquor Director Dale Dunlfon.

Asserting his innocence of charges of soliciting and accepting bribes contained in indictments issued Thursday by the grand jury, Oppenheimer said he took the leave to "relieve any embarrassment that might arise in connection with my work while under indictment."

Indicted with Oppenheimer were Hugh Ruel of Portsmouth, a Taft delegate to the Republican national convention and chairman of the Scioto County Republican executive committee and Tracy Pack of Portsmouth, a cab line operator.

Dunlfon, in announcing leave for Oppenheimer, declined comment. He said George C. Farris of Columbus, a permit reviewer for the department, would be acting chief permit examiner.

Bonds Are Fixed

Criminal Judge John R. King set $5,000 bond for Oppenheimer when he appears for arraignment. He set bonds of $3,000 each for Ruel and Pack.

Pack denied the allegations of the indictment in a statement to the newspapers, Ruel was unavailable.

The current affair marks the second time within 30 days that liquor department personnel have been involved in bribery accusations. Two liquor department inspectors were convicted in Youngstown last month on a charge of asking a bribe from a night club operator.

The inspectors, Joseph Hollard, 36, Cleveland, and Leonard Straum, 32, Middletown, were sentenced to one to 10 years in prison. They have appealed.

Warns Lewis of Suits If He Insists on Plan

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, June 12—John L. Lewis was threatened today with another lawsuit if he tries to carry out his new plan for getting immediate benefit payments from the miners' "frozen" welfare fund.

Ezra Van Horn, operator trustee of the fund said he will appeal to the courts if the United Mine Workers president attempts to use his "paper decision."

That decision was reached last night by a 2-1 vote. Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., neutral trustee, sided with Lewis on a resolution to authorize payments of pensions, disability and death benefits from the 1947 fund on the basis of rates prescribed for the 1946 fund.

U. S. ARMS AID SEEN IN WEST EUROPE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 12 — The American government was expected today to expand its foreign aid objectives to include military aid to a western European defense organization which this country might eventually join.

That appeared to be the first major product likely to come from the senate's overwhelming 64 to 4 approval yesterday of a far-reaching foreign policy resolution offered by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich).

Passage of that resolution served notice on the world that the treaty-making chamber favors U. S. participation in regional defense organization set up to carry out the peace aims of the United Nations.

By its vote, Vandenberg said, the senate clearly set forth "America's role in collective peace."

It offers "new hope for peace and security," he said, not by "automatic military alliances," but by a "plan for our practical American cooperation, under specified circumstances within the framework of the United Nations."

Stressing the peace objectives of the policy statement, Vandenberg said the senate action would serve as a warning to any "possible aggressor who might sneer."

PILOT PAYS FINE AS RECKLESS FLIER

Report of Flying While Intoxicated Erroneous.

David D. Watkins of near Radnor paid a fine of $50 and costs in municipal court this morning to a charge of reckless operation of an airplane.

It was erroneously reported in The Star Thursday that he had been charged with operating an airplane while under the influence of intoxicants.

The reckless operation charge, filed by the state highway patrol, accused Watkins of flying over Waldo at too low an altitude. He pleaded guilty. He was fined $100 with $150 of the amount suspended by acting Judge Don Williamson.

Watkins was arrested by highway patrolmen Wednesday night at the Miller airport on the Delaware road south of Marion after residents in the Waldo area reported he was flying too low. The flying offense was committed in a plane rented from that port, patrolmen said.

TAFT ASSAILS TRUMAN TALKS

Says He "Blackguards" Congress on Trip Taken at Taxpayers' Expense.

By The United Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 12 — Sen. Robert A. Taft rested his defense of the 80th congress today with an appeal to the people to give it a vote of confidence by electing a president that will carry out its program.

Taft, the Republican policy-maker in the senate and one of the leading candidates for the GOP presidential nomination, went on the air last night to defend congress against President Truman's charges that it was the "worst" in history.

He accused Mr. Truman of "blackguarding congress at every whistle station in the West . . . for the simple reason that congress happens to differ with him in his whole philosophy of government."

Taft called Mr. Truman "the gallivanting President" and assailed him for traveling about the country in a 15-car special train at the taxpayers' expense.

Gives Three Speeches

Taft made three speeches and the President was his special target in all of them. He spoke first at a luncheon at the Union League club. Then he repeated his charges at Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner. Later, he condensed both talks into a 15-minute radio address.

He said President Truman's "worst congress" crack "gives aid and comfort to all those who want to destroy representative government, as do Communists, Fascists and every believer in a totalitarian state."

There is no use of congress reconvening after the major political conventions when it "faces the vetoes of a man who does not understand the difference between American principles of free government and communism . . ." Taft said.

He blasted the President's legislative program, saying it would create a nation "completely regimented, choked by taxation, under the complete combination of centralized bureaucracy and arbitrary union leadership."

Sees Big Budget Boost

He said the President's spending program would boost the federal budget from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000,000.

"He is traveling through the country promising every group and every state and every community money from the federal treasury to support its favorite subjects . . .," Taft said. "Today he is deriding congress because it has some sense of responsibility to the taxpayers. Which he entirely lacks."

INNOCENT PLEA IS ENTERED TO ALL CHARGES

Murder Warrant To Be Filed In Case of Death of Mrs. Alice A. Beck.

Dwight Kenneth Matthews, 34, of 223 Ballentine avenue pleaded "not guilty" to three separate charges of assault with intent to murder filed against him in municipal court today by James E. Reed, Marion county prosecutor. Charges against Matthews followed his arrest Thursday night after the shooting of Mrs. Lenore Irvine, 37, his divorced wife, Mrs. Alice A. Beck, 56, her foster mother, and Carl B. Rice of Marysville, friend of Mrs. Irvine.

After pleading not guilty to each of the three separate charges Matthews waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the Marion county grand jury under bonds aggregating $30,000. Bonds were set by Acting Judge Don Williamson at $10,000 on the charge of shooting Mrs. Beck, $5,000 each on the charges of shooting Mrs. Irvine and Mr. Rice.

Mrs. Beck Critical

Official anxiety was expressed today over the condition of Mrs. Alice Beck. She remained in a critical condition at City hospital today with special nurses attending her after numerous blood transfusions in an effort to save her life, seriously threatened by the three .32 caliber pistol wounds in her abdomen. Her foster daughter, Mrs. Irvine, also is in City hospital with two pistol wounds. Her condition today remained serious, hospital attaches reported.

County Prosecutor James E. Reed indicated that should Mrs. Beck die of the gunshot wounds, the charge against Matthews would be changed to murder.

The May grand jury, excused last Wednesday would be called back into session immediately, the prosecutor said. As the charges now stand, Matthews may be held for the September grand jury, it was indicated.

Whether or not Matthews would be indicted for first degree murder, or a lesser degree, in the event of Mrs. Beck's death, would be up to the special session of the grand jury, Prosecutor Reed said.

Admission to Police

Police Chief W. E. Marks said Matthews admitted being in the Maynard Drive neighborhood at the time of the shooting. He has been identified as having been seen sitting on a porch at the corner of Bellefontaine and Cheney avenues within three minutes of the shooting, the chief said.

The gun believed to have been used in the shooting recovered at noon yesterday by police along a dead-end siding of the Pennsylvania railroad is an Italian Beretta 786 millimeter automatic pistol which Matthews told police he secured while in Italy during the war. Matthews has admitted to police that he owns the gun, Chief Marks said.

Police believe that Matthews walked both to and from the scene.

A police check revealed a car owned by him is in a Columbus garage for repairs of wreck damage.

Police Captain Marlean today said Matthews had admitted to him that he had slashed the tires and upholstery of the car owned by his ex-wife as it was parked in front of her foster parents' home.

Matthews, a native of Gloucester, O., came to Marion two and one-half years ago from Zanesville and had been employed at various times as a stationary engineer at the Quaker Oats and Hubay Manufacturing Co. plants here, police said.

Has Little To Say

He was unemotional at his arraignment in municipal court and police say he has been unresponsive to questioning.

A recurrent theory in official quarters today is that Matthews could have shot his ex-wife in despair over an unrequited love which persisted despite their recent divorce.

Police Chief Marks said the 13-year-old son of Mrs. Irvine was present at the Beck home at 908 Maynard drive when his mother and foster grandmother were shot.

YOUTH PLEADS GUILTY IN COLLEGE SHOOTING

By The Associated Press

BOWLING GREEN, O., June 12 — James Singler, 21-year-old Bowling Green State university freshman pleaded guilty today to a manslaughter charge in the dormitory window shooting March 17 of another youth. He was placed on probation for five years.

Singler, who had pleaded innocent on arraignment a month ago, changed his plea when he came to trial today and Common Pleas Judge E. K. Gelsther gave him a five-year suspended sentence to the Mansfield reformatory.

The youth, who admitted pointing a supposedly unloaded gun out his own dormitory window and toward a head in a room of another dormitory and pulling the trigger, must not return to Bowling Green or Wood county under the probation. His home is in Sandusky.

The victim of the shooting was Charles Wenzel, 18 of Centerburg, O., who died two hours after the bullet came through his window.

Prosecutor Floyd Coller recommended the suspended sentence. He reported that the boy had an excellent character and reputation in his home city. Singler intended to study for the priesthood, he said, and served in the Merchant Marine during the war.

Coller called the shooting the result of "stupidity and carelessness" rather than malice.

JEWS, ARABS, BOTH HOLD TRUCE BROKEN

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, June 12—Charges of violations by both sides threatened to blow up Palestine's powder-keg truce today.

"The Arab governments reserve the right to quick action in reply to criminal Zionist attacks," an Arab league note to the United Nations mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte warned. An Arab league representative routed the mediator out of his bed before dawn to give him the message.

The Jews also warned that violations would provoke Jewish counter-attack and they charged the truce, now in its second day, had been broken in several Palestine sectors.

Bernadotte and his aides left Cairo by plane early today for the Greek island of Rhodes, by way of Trans-Jordan and Jerusalem, to begin preparations for peace talks.

SOVIETS OVERRIDE JOE, SAYS TRUMAN

By The Associated Press

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN ENROUTE TO BERKELEY, Calif., June 12—President Truman, contended today that Russian forces stronger than 'Old Joe' Stalin are preventing the Soviet premier from keeping agreement vital to world peace.

In the chatty tone of a man passing the time of the day with neighbors at the corner drug store, the President said he liked "Old Joe" and gave this personal view of the Russian premier.

"He is a decent fellow. But Joe is a prisoner of the politburo. He can't do what he wants to. He makes agreements. And if he could he would keep them, but the people who run the government are very specific in saying that he can't keep them."

The President said he would elaborate in a major foreign policy speech at the University of California at Berkeley this afternoon on his hopes for eventual understanding between Russia and the United States.

He speaks at commencement exercises at 3.08 p. m., PST, (6.08 p. m. EST.)

The setting for the President's most intimate public appraisal of Stalin was Eugene, Ore. His audience was a group of townspeople clustered about the back platform of his private car along the railroad tracks.

Floods Menacing Industrial Areas

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12—The raging Columbia river rose up today in renewed threat to three industrial areas in the Pacific northwest.

President Truman viewed the devastated American flood zone of Oregon and Washington yesterday as new damages were developing in the three-week battle against the Columbia and Fraser rivers worst damage in the U S and Canada.

In Portland, Mr Truman signed a $10 000 000 emergency housing bill that had been rushed through congress. It will alleviate suffering caused by the Memorial day inundation of Vanport—most disastrous single blow of the flood wave.

Meanwhile, the toll for the two nations mounted to 38 known dead.

There were other developments.

An American military government official said Soviet-sponsored German Communists are attempting to foment strike waves in the American and British sectors of Berlin, ostensibly to protest western recognition of anti-Communist leadership of Berlin's trade union federation.

Weygandt Points Out Democracy's Danger

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 12—Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme court believes democracy "is the most dangerous form of government devised by the mind of man."

"By that I mean," said Justice Weygandt in an address to the largest graduating class in the history of Ohio State university yesterday, "that while a democracy confers the greatest degree of freedom on its citizens it in turn imposes the greatest responsibility on each individual.

"Therein lies the danger, because this obligation is one that cannot be delegated and is inescapable."

Justice Weygandt told the 1,969 graduates that they are "participants in a deadly struggle between basic philosophies of government."

He asked the class to "make full use of your educations to preserve our democracy against the challenge of those who would destroy it and us."

DISCLOSE NAZI MASTER PLAN

Documents Reveal Purge by Hitler Was To Include 11 Million Jews.

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, June 12 — Hitler accomplished only half his goal in his plan to destroy the Jews. Documents in war crimes trials here disclosed there was a master plan to gas 11,000,000.

A cold, impersonal discussion of the "final solution of the Jewish question" took place at a conference Jan. 20, 1942 in Berlin.

A record of the conference was introduced in the trial of the Nazi ministers.

Prosecutor Robert M. W. Kempner claimed the document put full blame for the Jewish annihilation on the ministers, including the foreign office, instead of the usual Himmler-Bormann scapegoats.

Attending the conference were Stuckart of the interior ministry, Freisler, of justice, Luther of the foreign office, Meyer and Leibbrandt of the occupied east and Neumann of the "four-year plan."

Charts Listed Millions

A chart was laid down listing 11,000,000 Jews, even including those in the British Isles. At that time the Nazi hierarchy apparently had not given up hope of defeating and occupying Great Britain.

Minutes of the meeting said: "Under proper direction the Jews should now be brought to the east in a suitable way for use as labor. In big labor gangs, those capable of work are to be employed in road building in which task undoubtedly a great part will fall out through natural diminution.

"The remnant that finally is able to survive all this must be given treatment accordingly, since these people are to be regarded as the German cell of a new Jewish development should they be allowed to go free.

"See the experience of history on this."

Countries Remined

The plan succeeded in the extermination of upwards of 5,000,000. The cold-blooded schedule, according to the documents, listed these groups of Jews for "final solution":

Germany, 131,000; Austria 43,700, Poland and other occupied eastern territories, 2,704,000, Bialystok, 400,000; Czechoslovakia, 74,200; Baltic states, 37,500; Belgium, 43,000, Denmark, 5,000, France, 865,000; Greece, 69,000; Holland, 160,800, Norway 1,300; Bulgaria, 48,000, England, 350,000, Finland, 2,300, Ireland, 4,000, Italy, Sardinia and Albania, 58,200, Croatia, 40,000, Portugal, 3,000, Romania, 342,000, Sweden, 8,000; Switzerland, 18,000, Serbia, 10,000; Slovakia, 88,000, Spain, 6,000, Turkey, 55,500, Hungary 742,800, Soviet Russia, 5,000,000, Ukraine, 2,994,684.

The late gestapo chief Reinhard Heydrich opened the meeting by announcing he had been appointed by Herman Goering to head up "the preparation of the final solution."

"Voluntary" Choice Given

Even half-Jews were included in the extermination program. Quarter-Jews were to be given the choice of sterilization or death. The minutes of the meeting recorded this as a "voluntary" phase of the plan.

The conference came about, it was explained, because mere evacuation failed to remove the Jews from "reich territory." Those who got away in the earlier days bought their way out.

Jewish financial organizations abroad mostly in the U.S. contributed $9,500,000 to obtain foreign exchange for the hapless up to Oct. 30, 1941, the conference was told.

CHURCHMEN OPPOSE 'STRIP-TEASE' RULING

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 12—Church leaders in this staid Queen city of the mid-west have voiced stern opposition to the "strip tease" decision of 83-year-old common pleas Judge Stanley Struble.

In freeing Oscar Lerner, a news stand operator, of charges of possessing and selling obscene literature, Judge Struble, who has several grandchildren, ruled "There is no law to define obscenity"

He said further, in a 30-page opinion, there was "nothing distasteful" about a series of strip tease photographs introduced in the case.

The decision brought from Dr Kemper G McCombs, executive secretary of the council churches, the comment yesterday "If the judges won't back up the police, what can the police do?" A council committee will take up the matter he said

Msgr John E Kuhn, diocesan director of the National Catholic organization for decent literature referred to Judge Struble's declaration that the strip tease views "... are of God's own children and ... there cannot be any obscenity in God's handiwork"

Said Msgr Kuhn "One wonders if the venerable jurist would condone a parade of stark naked boobs sowers through a public thoroughfare in their birthday suits"

The decision "will not go unchallenged by the Methodist group" said Dr J Otis Yoder district superintendent of the Methodist church.

HOW TO COLLAR A DOLLAR—AUTOMATICALLY!

DO YOU have trouble collaring dollars?

Do you find that after paying your bills and meeting your day-by-day expenses there aren't many dollars left to collar—to save for your future needs?

If you do, here's a bit of good advice! Here's how to collar those dollars-for-the-future automatically!

All you have to do is sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan! Then, regularly as clockwork, part of your earnings are put into U. S. Security Bonds.

Automatically, you start to build financial security, to store up dollars for things you really want—like a home of your own, or college for your kids, or a healthy retirement fund.

And the dollars you collar this way actually make more dollars. A $75 Bond will make $25 more dollars in just 10 years. You get back $100 in cash!

These U.S Security Bonds help stabilize prices. WISE SAVING means more SENSIBLE SPENDING . . Fewer dollars go to market to bid up prices on scarce goods.

And it's wise debt management, too. Every bond dollar that is built up in your Government's Treasury is used to retire a dollar of the national debt that is potentially inflationary.

Men Wanted

CAPT CHARLES E YEAGER, the 25-year-old test pilot who guided the first supersonic plane beyond the sound barrier over Muroc, Calif., is a pioneer in a great adventure of modern times.

Perhaps the demonstration that an airplane can move faster than sound waves may be less important in the long run than the demonstration that a pilot can be trained to operate it at that incredible speed.

Even in the late war, the now obsolete planes then in use were taxing human ability to fly them. The same kind of decisions and manipulations which automobile drivers must make in seconds to avert disaster had to be made in tiny fractions of seconds to avert certain death. The supersonic plane reduces the fractions still further.

Sound waves move at a speed of 1,266 feet a second through air at a temperature of 100 degrees. In the time it takes to spell M-i-s-s-i-s-s-i-p-p-i, a plane moving faster than sound would have moved a mile. At such speeds, all relationships based on ordinary experience would be meaningless. Objects would be approached at a rate of better than 14 miles a minute. Two supersonic planes approaching each other would pass at a speed of close to 1,800 miles an hour. The slightest deviation from a level, straight course would start unconsciousness in the pilot. The slightest lapse from perfection in the handling of the controls would bring death. The question is whether the same kind of genius that can produce a supersonic airplane can develop the kind of a man who can fly it to any purpose.

The World Bank As a Catalyst

WITH the European recovery program making headlines, the world bank has been relegated to a secondary role as a source of funds for national rehabilitation.

The bank operates on a basis different from the economic cooperation administration. Most of its resources come from private subscription through bond sales, and its loans are made with reasonable prospects of being repaid.

As ERP revives trade and sets self-liquidating projects in operation, the bank may play an increasingly important role in European recovery. But it is in South America that John McCloy, the bank president, sees the greatest opportunity for the bank in the immediate future. He hopes to stimulate industry there by judicious loans which will lay the basis for increased productivity. This in turn will create investor confidence. Thus the bank, if it lives up to the hopes held for it, will serve as an industrial catalyst for underdeveloped nations.

Conduct Unbecoming an American

DIFFERENCES of opinion between the Chief Executive and the legislative branch are not new. They began in George Washington's time and will go on as long as the United States retains a government with responsibility divided among executive, legislative and judicial departments.

But it is conduct unbecoming an American to permit the differences of opinion to become abusive. It was conduct unbecoming to Franklin D. Roosevelt, who attacked both the judiciary and legislative branches. It is conduct even less becoming to President Harry Truman, whose current imitations of his predecessor's dangerous political tactics are shabby campaign tricks to conceal the weakness of the political party whose nomination he is seeking. When politicians stoop to such behavior they are guilty of undermining the very system they are sworn to uphold. They are guilty, moreover, of insulting the sovereignty of the people by whose sufferance they hold office.

Mr. Truman has piqued congress. The temptation is strong to get even with him; that is one of the dangers of interdepartmental bickering. A safer way would be to let him go unanswered, on the sound assumption that the more he says the more he will reveal about himself and his desperate position as the leader of a patchwork party that has come apart at the political seams.

Geographical Oddity

AN ARGENTINE dignitary, speaking in New Orleans recently, said there was no reason why the city couldn't become North America's great wool port, a distinction now held by Boston.

His hosts agreed. After all, New Orleans is closer to wool-exporting Buenos Aires than is Boston, they pointed out. But that was where they were wrong. Boston newspapers were quick to observe that the sea distance from Buenos Aires to Boston is 5,800 miles; from Buenos Aires to New Orleans 6,400 miles.

That's an addition for the list of geographical oddities on which specialists have been collecting bets for years. It's one of those oddities like the fact that Reno is farther west than Los Angeles, or that Miami is east of Havana, or that Chile's coastline is farther east than New York City.

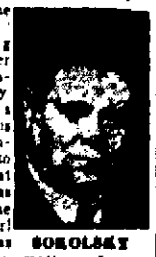
Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Knowledge Without Wisdom.

DEAN GAUSS of Princeton university a distinguished scholar made this statement, according to the Daily Worker.

"If you mean by communism acceptance of the theories of Karl Marx and attempting to put them into practice, then we must defend their rights. I think communism is a protest against economic conditions and everybody has the right in a democracy to protest against an economic system in which he does not believe."



SOKOLSKY

Something seems very queer about this paragraph. Certainly Dean Gauss knows what is meant by Communist. He also knows that that communism, as expressed in "the theories of Karl Marx," has ceased to be a matter of academic discussion and has become a world movement not only for the conversion of men to certain ideas but an active force, supported by the armed forces of a great power spreading imperialistically in Europe and Asia, maintaining in all countries a fifth column which, in critical and troubled times, seizes power by whatever means are available. In many countries, such a group has seized power. In the United States, such a group is now led by Henry Wallace.

Precisely, what is Dean Gauss defending? His criticism is of the Thomas committee of congress, which has asked certain persons to identify themselves under oath. The Thomas committee has not denied them the right to be Marxists or Communists or Socialists or Republicans or Democrats. It has, in effect, said to them that these are troubled times, that a large number of countries have been conquered by subversive but small groups of natives serving a foreign power and that the congress of the United States would like to know how much of that is going on in the United States.

A Pertinent Question

Cardinal Spellman proclaims himself a Roman Catholic, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise prides himself on his Judaism, Robert A. Taft shouts from the housetops that he is a Republican, Norman Thomas announces his continued leadership of the Socialists, Harry Truman is unmistakably a Democrat —why should any man who is a Communist decline to announce it? Why should he object to admit it?

The reason, of course, is that, by the rules of international communism, each of its partisans is ipso facto an agent of a foreign power. To admit affiliation with this party is to admit serving a foreign master. The Communist is not free to labor for the improvement of the economic system in the United States, he is required to play that role, to serve that line which is designated by a foreign power seeking to establish a political and intellectual hegemony over mankind.

There can be no question but that Dean Gauss is correct when he says that "in a democracy," by which he must mean a country of free men, "everybody has the right . . . To protest against an economic system in which he does not believe." But equally those who do believe in the economic and political system of the country have a right to protect themselves not only in their traditions but also against being conquered, without war but by subversive activities, by a foreign foe.

Must Know Our Enemies

One of the most potent steps in that defense is to know who the enemies inside the country are. That is all that the Dies and the Thomas committees have been doing for 10 years. They have been acting as a public grand jury, trying nobody, convicting nobody, seeking data from everybody.

For instance, if I were asked to testify under oath that I am a Republican, I could so state with the limitations that I have not always voted the Republican ticket and do not intend to be bound to do so in the future and that there are some Democrats I prefer to some Republicans. I would not regard it as a violation of my rights to be asked a question that would bring forth such a reply. Nor would I refuse to answer whether I am a Communist. All I would have to say is, no!

Why refuse to answer that particularly in the troubled times through which we are passing? It would seem to me that the dean is the possessor of greater knowledge than wisdom.

Father Has His Day

By Frank Tripp

FATHER is a great guy—so they set aside a day for him. A balmy day in June, the month of graduates, brides and roses.

They picked the third Sunday in June, which always comes after the old man has just paid his second income tax installment. They figured he'd need bolstering up about then.

If, from marrying off an offspring or graduating one, wedding presents, gifts to graduates and his taxes, he comes up broke, the weather will be good and sleeping in the park won't be too uncomfortable.

TRIPP

I've tried to find a father who can get pepped up over Father's Day. No soap, I can't find one. Somehow or other pop doesn't enthuse much about special days. They sort of have him down 'cause every one of 'em nicks him one way or another.

Father always had attention, after a fashion. Long before anybody thought of Father's Day he got top billing from the gunsmiths. There was that touching ballad that pictured him so gloriously, "Father, dear father come home with me now; the clock in the steeple strikes one."

Whether or not that's where father got the notion to strike, isn't of record. Anyway it has come to pass that father now strikes more than the clock. The clock strikes one, so father strikes too.

That was a wonderful song and did much for father's reputation. For you of the younger set, the old man was crocked in a gin mill and his neglected child was inviting him to call around by the house and see his sick wife. A beautiful sentiment that added greatly to father's prestige.

* * *

Then another song writer, many years later, did nobly by father. He extolled a different breed of paters. By then the old lady had come to take a hip now and then so it was better to lay off the hard stuff in the lyrics of that day.

There wasn't yet a laugh or a sob in any ordinary thing that fathed did, so the tin pan alley boys approached him from a new angle. A bright one among them made a ten-strike when he wrote: "Everybody works but father, he sits 'round all day. Feet up by the fire, smoking his pipe of clay. Mother takes in washings; so does sister Ann. Everybody works at our house, but my old man."

* * *

Well, of course there are those kinds of fathers and a lot of other pesky kinds. Yet most of 'em aren't like that at all—they're worse. Like as not, if you mention Father's Day to them they'll bark back some belittling wisecrack about fathers in general.

It's probably because, in the process of being a father, they have been so libeled in song, slandered at breakfast and milked on payday that they have developed a complex which is as pitiful as it is amusing.

They just don't expect to be appreciated, nor understood, for all of the true love and hidden tenderness that lurks in their stubborn hearts.

* * *

A good father so abandons hope of warmth from his children in favor of mother that only the sentimental ones among them ever come to really know the different kind of affection which children feel for dad.

That's where the serious side of this opus comes in. Pop will like that necktie or pipe you're planning to give him and he'll get a kick out of being remembered; though he may just grunt his appreciation.

But if you want to do something mighty nice for father, do the hardest thing there is to do. Go tell him, as you often do your mother, just how much you love him and what he means to you.

He'll be all fussed up and won't know how to take it; he'll laugh it off and try to make you stop before you're through. But after you've gone—

He'll go out in the yard and blubber.

Buckingham Palace has confirmed reports that Princess Elizabeth is expecting a baby in the fall.

That's been a worse kept secret than if she'd switched to Calvert's.

Every time her picture has been printed recently there has been worldwide speculation as to whether it was the new look or the old story.

Official announcement of the expected heir was indicated in the national interest. Otherwise, the empire would have gone stork mad.

Incidentally, this probably explains the recent resumption by British of tobacco purchases in this country. Philip will need a lot of cigars.

Make German Flag

By The Associated Press

BERLIN — Reports in the Socialist press here say Russian preparations for setting up an eastern Germany state have advanced to the point of mass-producing an "East Germany" flag. The official "Sozial Demokrat" reported the flags were being manufactured in textile factories in Saxony in anticipation of the proclamation of an eastern Germany government. This preparation was proceeding, the newspaper claimed, while Russian propaganda was assailing the U. S. and Britain of "separatist" actions in plotting the creation of a Western Germany government. According to the "Sozial Demokrat," the Russian zone flag is red, black and white but mostly red. "Production of the flag models," the newspaper said, "was undertaken under special precautions of secrecy. All who worked on it were sworn to silence. In addition, they were told the product was for export."

Drain on British Reserves

By Stewart Alsop

LONDON

MARSHALL plan aid will not be enough to keep England going unless there is a sharp fall in world food prices very soon. Thus there is every likelihood that even while the election campaign is in full swing the United States may be confronted with a decision affecting the whole basis of American foreign policy.

The facts are simple. Despite Marshall aid and despite a striking internal recovery, Britain is still being forced to live on its fat. And unless this process is soon halted, there will be no fat left to live on.

ALSOP

The British treasury's gold and dollar reserve is down to little more than two billion dollars, which is painfully close to the danger point. If the reserve is reduced much more, Britain, as the banker of the sterling area, will be in the position of a banker who is unable to meet his obligations. Then, unless the United States steps in, a collapse of the whole intricate financial system of the sterling area will become inevitable. And it is by no means improbable that this American decision will have to be made within a few months. For although the British experts have been feverishly attempting to plug up the holes in the British financial dikes, the drain on the British reserve continues inexorably.

In the Danger Zone

Unofficial government estimates show that about half a billion dollars is likely to leak out of the vital dollar reserve in the next 12 months. But some experts believe that the figure is actually likely to be close to a billion dollars, unless heroic measures are taken. Even if the government estimates are not too optimistic, British reserves will be reduced below what many experts consider the danger point, at which financial collapse becomes imminent.

In these circumstances, it is not surprising that even this early the British have already approached ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman with a request for a larger allocation to Britain and the sterling area. The request was made at the height of the Palestine crisis, when anti-British feeling in the United States was most bitter. At first it seemed certain that the request would be rejected, but the matter has instead now been shelved for future consideration. Meanwhile, Sir Stafford Cripps, the ascetic, coldly intelligent chancellor of the exchequer, is known to have taken a hard decision. Whether or not a greater allocation of American aid is forthcoming, and whether or not world food prices fall, Cripps intends to regard the British dollar reserve at a certain level—probably in the neighborhood of a billion and a half dollars—as sacrosanct. When this level is reached, no further withdrawals will be tolerated whatever the consequences.

This is a Cripps decision. It is not—as yet—a cabinet decision. It is certain to meet the most determined opposition in the cabinet, and in the Labor party as a whole. For it means that the hard-pressed British will have to tighten their belts a great deal further than they have already been tightened, simply because food imports will have to be below present levels. Many observers believe that if the Labor government once halts the process of living off Britain's fat, it will be signing its own death warrant. Already little love is lost between Cripps and such men as the fatuous Dr. Hugh Dalton, and the leader of the cabinet's Left wing, Aneurin Bevan. These and others are expected bitterly to oppose the harsh Cripps expedient for safeguarding the dollar reserve. Yet Cripps will probably win in the end, if only because the facts argue for him.

It is possible that Cripps may never have to urge this grim expedient on the cabinet. Every informed British official prays nightly for a fall in world food prices, for this would immediately ease the British position. Yet although there is every indication of an abundant world harvest, prices, which usually anticipate the harvest, have remained ominously constant. Perhaps again the British economic recovery will close the threatening dollar gap before it is too late. Recovery is already well under way. Exports have been pushed up more than a quarter since 1946, and both production and exports are well above the pre-war average, while the output per man hour of the British worker is higher than ever in history. Yet despite this recovery, the slow, desperate hemorrhage continues to drain the British reserve of gold dollars.

A Suit of Clothes by Camera

("A photographic unit has been devised which, through accurate dimensions, figures, makes it unnecessary for a tailor to measure a man for a suit any more." —News item.)

* * *

Tailor (as the suit is tried on)—Looks nice, eh?

Customer—The sleeves are too long.

Tailor—The sleeves too long, he says. It's impossible!

Customer—And that left shoulder lops over too far.

Tailor—Hmm! Sure talk when nothing can be wrong with a garment.

Customer—But look at the back. It's loose and baggy.

Tailor—Please do me a favor and stop talking such nonsense. I ain't had to use a pin so far, even in case I used pins any more.

* * *

Customer—You'll shorten these pants, of course?

Tailor—For why? They are perfect, even if neither of us thinks so.

Customer—Listen. I've got to wear this suit and I want it to fit me.

Tailor—How could it not fit you, I'm asking? Does a man tell a photographer that the print is of somebody else?

* * *

Customer—The vest is short.

Tailor—Take my word for it, mister, and on top of that you've got science and the Eastman Kodack Company. There is nothing wrong with these garments.

Customer (sorely tried)—Now take a good look at me and tell me, on the level, do you really claim this is a good fitting suit?

Tailor—You want I should argue with the photographic industry? We took your measurements by camera, ain't it?

Customer—Yes, I remember that.

Tailor—Can a camera lie?

Customer—In this case it can be sent up for perjury.

Tailor—Mister, believe me, maybe the suit is a little loose here and a little loose there, but a picture can't be wrong.

Customer—Why not? Maybe I was out of focus.

* * *

Tailor (resignedly)—You'll have to take it up with the camera department.

Customer—What for? I came here for a suit, not for a photo finish, a camera contest or a demonstration in film development.

Tailor—I'll call the boss. Mister Mandelbaum!

Mr. Mandelbaum—What seems to be the difficulties?

Tailor—This man's suit was made through the camera system and he says it don't fit.

Mr. Mandelbaum (looking at the label)—Tscht! Tscht! Such mistakes we make!

Customer—What happened?

Mr. Mandelbaum—You are trying on Mr. Frisby's suit. Epostein got the photographic plates mixed up!

Three a Day

By TRUMAN TWILL

A customer wants to know how the custom began of eating three meals a day, instead of eating when hungry, which might be five times a day, or might be once—or on some days might be never.

The explanation is simple.

The custom started because the female of the species was made responsible for preparing the food and wasted no time organizing a strong union. She was darned if she was going to spend the best years of her life skinning wild game, frying eggs and opening cans of beans.

So she made an announcement that soup would be on at certain hours—come and get it—first come, first served—and from now on not to expect the old lady to run a short-order restaurant—not at these prices, Bub.

She still has her little problems, such as piecing between meals, refrigerator raiding and midnight snacks, but she has learned to live with them, being a sometimes offender herself. And it is to her credit that the schedule has a lot of built-in flexibility.

For example, she puts out five meals a day to some parts of the world and in other parts puts out no meals at all, except to open another can of corn. In some situations she has ditched the responsibility entirely and either eats in restaurants or hires professionals to slave over a hot stove while she handles more important matters, such as serving on committees to uplift the human race.

It can be said in defense of the female of the species that if the male were responsible for preparing the family meals he'd work it the same way. Food which must be prepared, in contrast with packaged breakfast food and cold beans, must be eaten when ready. There must be some kind of an understanding about it, or the effort is wasted.

Some day, of course, the whole thing will be done better. This column was among the first—perhaps the only one in existence—to point out the possibilities of dehydrated dog food. The same principle applied to family nutrition would mean that anyone who felt hungry would head for the paper sack listing the toothsome ingredients of the contents and stave off starvation with no fuss or bother—just add a little warm water and stir. The human race is more than halfway to this solution already in its use of canned foods. Millions of humans with no one who cares whether they eat or not have been living out of tin cans for years.

The custom of eating on schedule began as a convenience to the females who prepared the food and the consumers who wanted something a little fancier than a chunk of raw dinosaur, a plate of cold beans, or a baloney sandwich. There's no law that says the custom must be followed, other than the law of survival.

Weather Recorders Prefer Blondes

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE—Science prefers blondes.

Meteorological engineers at the Friez Instrument Division of Bendix Aviation Corporation here, who use human hair in making weather recording instruments, not only prefer that tresses be blond, but they demand it.

The engineers say that hair makes a better moisture-sensitive element for humidity instruments than any other substance. They say only blond hair will work, and that brunette and red tresses are too coarse. Even blond hair must meet these requirements: It must be straight, at least 10 inches long and must never have been bleached or curled.

The Glorified Word

A Sermonette

By REV. JOEL BARMAN

Pastor of First Pilgrim Holiness Church.

WE ARE calling your attention to the Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians, chapter 3:1. We quote, "Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you (Marigenal) that it may run and be glorified. (Weymouth) That the Lord's word may spread rapidly and be extolled." From the study of the scriptures we find the Apostle Paul had been the founder of this church, and later wrote at Corinth wrote this epistle. And in this chapter first he addresses them as brethren, proving his confidence in them, and then goes on making a special request. "Brethren, pray for us, for what purpose? That the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you.

Now we are sure that Paul felt the need of prayer, not only as his own part, but on the part of the church. He realized his ministry need to be backed by prayer, that the word preached might be effective, and have free course in the hearts of his hearers. He did not want his preaching to be in vain, therefore he coveted their prayers. Now we might say right here unless the believers, that is the members of our churches first become recipients of the gospel it will have very little effect or any on the world. Many that attend church every Sunday, we fear, are not profited by the preaching word because they do not receive it as such. As an example, we call your attention to the Hebrew Epistle chapter 4:1 and 2. We quote "Let us therefore fear, lest a promise being left us of entering into His rest, any of you should seem to come short of it."

For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them, but the word preached did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in them that heard it. Now why were they not profited? Was it not because it was not mixed with faith? We can see the word preached did not have free course, and it failed to be glorified. Now Paul stated in his Roman Epistle, chapter 1:16, that the gospel was the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. Now he did not say to every one who disbelieved, or to every one who merely heard it, but to them that believed.

Now let us call your attention not only to the ministry of Paul but some others, where the word had free course and was glorified. Turn with me to the gospel according to Matthew, chapter 3:1,6. Here we have John the Baptist preaching repentance. In verses 5 and 6 notice they went out to him, Jerusalem, and all Judaea and all the region round about Jordan. And were baptized of him in Jordan, confessing their sins. Now why were they confessing their sins? Because the word preached was having free course in their hearts, it was running and being glorified. It was received with faith. Again turn to the gospel according to Luke, chapter 10, where Jesus had sent the 70 disciples out to preach and on their return said, Lord, even the devils were subject unto us through Thy name. Now why was this? Because their ministry was being received and it was having free course in the hearts of hearers, and was being glorified.

Acts, chapter 8, we find where Philip went down to the city of Samaria and preached Christ unto them and there was great joy in that city. Now why was there great joy come to that city? For the answer we turn to verse 6, "And the people with one accord gave head unto those things which Philip spake." Again you can see the word was being glorified and was having free course. In other words, it was rapidly spreading.

In Acts of the Apostles, chapter 10, we find where Peter called down to the house of Cornelius and while he yet preached the word, the Holy Ghost fell on all them that heard the word. Now why did the Holy Ghost fall on them? The last half of the 43rd verse will answer this question where we have the words of Cornelius to Peter. Now therefore are we all here present before God, to hear all things that are commanded thee of God. Now who was all there? Verse 24 we see he called together his kinsmen and friends. Can you see why the Holy Ghost fell on them while Peter yet preached? Because they were there to hear and they evidently received the word in faith, and it was glorified in them. It had free course in their hearts.

Building a Dry-Well To End Water Problem

In many instances a dry-well will keep a lawn from being eroded or a road from being washed out. As a matter of fact, a dry-well will be found of great help in any case where too much water hits the surface of the ground at one time.

If the rain from the gutters and leaders of your house is digging holes close to the foundation, or if sections of foundation or if sections of your road are flooded during heavy storms, a dry-well will probably remedy the trouble.

The building of the well is quite simple. You make a hole in the ground near the bottom of the leader and sink a barrel which has had both head and bottom knocked out. The end of the leader is run into the barrel and then it is filled with heavy stones or broken rock. A concrete slab or a few boards are placed over the top, and then the earth is replaced as shown, leaving the barrel sunk out of sight. Earth must be well rammed down around the barrel and on the top so as to prevent settlement.

If the barrel is needed alongside a roadway, the top should be covered with a slab or heavy boards that will bear the weight of traffic and the surface should then be replaced. No inlet need be provided as the surface water will find its way in without any trouble.

The idea behind the dry-well is simply to provide a temporary receptacle for a sudden rush of water and then permit it to seep out into the surrounding ground and disperse naturally.

Many cellars which are continually damp have been cured by the installation of a well at the end of each leader or down spout and many muddy roads have been made dry by using them. If the barrel is painted before being buried, it will last for many years.

Crack in Concrete Tank

Q. Please send me information on sealing the inside of a concrete stock tank, size 16'x8'x3'. This tank has walls about a foot thick. Last winter the water in this tank froze, causing tank to crack.

A. The following method should serve. Cut into the crack with a cold chisel to make it deeper (at least one inch) and wider so that a patch can be forced all the way through. Brush out all loose bits of cement and sand. Soak the edges with water and then pack the crack with a stiff mixture of one part portland cement and three parts of clean sharp sand, using only enough water to make a workable mixture. Keep the patch damp for several days so that mortar will have time to cure and attain full density.

Paint for Hot-Water Pipes

Q. What can I do about hot-water pipes that constantly have the paint peel off? I wish to repaint several rooms and would like this information.

A. You could use a radiator enamel following the manufacturer's directions for application. But you should make some allowance for a slight darkening of the color under heat and choose a shade a little lighter than you otherwise would select. The pipes must be clean and cold for a good paint job and for thorough drying.

Sketch of a Possible WHITE HOUSE HOSTESS

—Hazel Whittaker Vandenberg—

(One of a series of daily articles about wives of men in the list from which the Republican nominee is likely to be chosen.)

MRS. ARTHUR VANDENBERG

A "NATURAL" for the job of First Lady of the land is Hazel Whittaker Vandenberg, a former school teacher, newspaper reporter, and social worker . . . She knows her Washington and Washington knows her and likes her breezy friendliness . . . If her Arthur breaks the talked-about deadlock, she'll move out of their modest five-room apartment and into the White House with the greatest of ease of any of the "Ladies-in-Waiting". What a time she and her "Rock of Gibraltar" Maggie, the Dutch housekeeper, would have in that $50,000 kitchen, making tiny potato doughnuts (a specialty for which she's given the recipe to hundreds') . . . Her father was a railway agent, and she an only child with no children of her own . . . However, she mothered the three children of Arthur H Vandenberg—Barbara and Elizabeth, both now married, and Arthur Jr., who is campaign manager and administrative assistant for his father . . .

IF HAZEL WHITTAKER had not left her native Indiana (she was born in New Haven) to enter the University of Michigan, she might never have met Arthur Vandenberg . . . A "blind date" at a college dance and he was "engaged" at the time to Elizabeth Watson whom he later married. Hazel did not see him again for 15 years—until after the death of his wife . . . Meanwhile, she had taught school in Saginaw, managed to corral a reporting job on a Chicago newspaper and topped it off with an advertising stint for a Detroit department store. She interrupted that job to marry the rising editor of the Grand Rapids Herald and set up housekeeping in Vandenberg's old home on Morris avenue . . .

HER ACTIVITIES varied . . . the Delta Gamma sorority . . . YWCA . . . National Camp Fire Board . . . University of Michigan alumnae association, raising funds for the million dollar Women's League building . . . For years Hazel Vandenberg has written a column for her home-town club magazine . . . Today she is head of the Senate ladies (her husband is president of the Senate) . . . Recuperating from a couple of major operations, she's lost the ambitious urge to be First Lady, just as the senator has to be president . . . But if it happens, she'll be the most popular hostess the White House has seen in many a year.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

At Olina's question, I did a mental handspring. I had expected, sooner or later, to explain to the prospective bride that, because I thought it necessary, I had broken my tentative pact with her to have her tell Georges herself of her choice of Mary as matron of honor. Was it possible that she had forgotten what we had said?

I answered that quickly to myself in the negative. Olina has a retentive memory. It was far more likely that she was asking me indirectly if I had forgotten my promise.

But Olina was waiting for my answer, and I looked directly into her eyes as I spoke.

"I was just coming to that, dearest," I said. "When Georges and I were talking about the wedding, he asked me if you had chosen your attendants"—I made a mental note to refresh Georges' memory on that point, as well as on his message to her, before he could see her at the farmhouse—"I had no time for evasion, and after all, you have only one possible choice—the rest of us are all too old for wedding attendants—so I said that, if he approved, you wished Mary for your matron of honor, and Faith for your flower girl."

"What did he say?" she said in tones so muted that without good ears I could not have heard her. I stiffened, a bit warily. With the remembrance of her quickly stifled plaint—"I shall not know until—" when we were talking about Mary's presence at the wedding, I knew that Georges' reaction to this particular bit of news was of paramount importance to her.

"Nothing much," I said. "You know Georges. He no sooner asks one question than his agile brain is framing another, and he hardly listens to the answer of the first one. But I remember he did say that of course he approved any arrangement of yours, that Faith would make an adorable flower girl, and that it was natural you should wish Mary for your attendant, as you were related, in a way, were professional associates, and he thought, warm friend besides."

"Nothing more?" Olina said. "He made no comment on how Mary would look as matron of honor?"

She took that back in horrified protest even as I tried to conceal my look of astonishment at her.

"Oh please forget I said that," she said. "It just tumbled out. I didn't mean it."

"But I mustn't forget it," I said with decision. "You are entitled to know that Georges made no other comment besides the ones I just have given you. Frankly, he didn't appear to be much interested in the problem of attendants. All his thoughts were of you, and of his approaching marriage to you."

She was silent for at least three seconds. Then she said softly, "Thank you, Aunt Madge," and relapsed into silence again.

"As for the question of his own attendant," I went on, reminding myself of the old proverb of the advantage arising from being hung for a sheep instead of for a lamb, "that subject wasn't mentioned. But on the way home, there flashed into what my husband calls my 'so-called brain' a scheme which I mentioned to your uncle Dicky, and which he approves. But I want to know your reaction before I go on with it."

She straightened her lithe body, and raised her head with patent interest.

"What is it?" she asked.

"It seems to me," I said, "that it would be wonderful if Noel would provide the music for the wedding. You know what a marvelous pianist he is, and otherwise, we would have to depend upon phonograph records. As it is, Lillian, Aunt Katharine and I can play accompaniments and dance music in a pinch, but not anything requiring professional skill. But Noel could do a good job."

She nodded in agreement.

"He would do a marvelous job," she said. "But then who would be Georges' best man?"

PLEASANT CLUB MEETS

A health talk by county nurse Miss Ann Sedelmaier featured the recent meeting of the Pleasant Junior 4-H club held June 4 at the Pleasant school. Miss Sedelmaier spoke on general health, health habits and good grooming. There were 22 members present. Next club meeting is scheduled for June 18 at the school, according to reporter Miss Peggy Zuspan.

Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

FOR the first time in their mutually acrimonious history Gen. Charles DeGaulle and the French Communists are political bed fellows today, a fact that reaffirms the truth of the old axiom.

Neither DeGaulle nor the Communists approve of the plan to unify western Germany.

The general's political party, the French people's rally, is the strongest opponent of Communism in France. Vice Versa, DeGaulle is the man whom the Reds hope is least likely to succeed.

MACKENZIE

Nevertheless, and for totally different reasons, they find themselves lined up together today on the German issue. Together they may be strong enough to bring about the dissolution of parliament and to cause a general election and a new government.

And so the question again rises in the minds of millions of people, on both sides of the Atlantic, is Charles DeGaulle another dictator-in-the-making?

The answer, I believe, is "no." And I would hasten to emphasize that that is a strictly personal opinion not shared by all the correspondents who watched him during the war, and came to know him.

DeGaulle is an odd combination of a soldier, a mystic, a college professor, a technician, a historian and an idealist.

WHAT HE IS NOT is a politician, meaning a man who understands and practices the art and strategy of maneuvering his way into power and then holding on to that power, by fair means or foul.

Compromise is the essence of politics—and DeGaulle has demonstrated, over and over again, that he will not compromise on matters of principle, in London during the war, the clang and clatter of his cyclopean battles with Winston Churchill could be heard all the way from Ten Downing street to the East End docks. At Casablanca he clashed, almost on sight, with President Roosevelt.

In every instance it was because DeGaulle—who after actually represented nobody but the few Frenchmen who had escaped the German occupation—insisted that France was still a first-rank power, an ally, and should be treated as such.

AGAIN, IMMEDIATELY AFTER the war, remember that he came to power in Paris B.V. when the rest of the French government declined to approve his plan for a centralized regime with greater power concentrated in the hands of the premier. He did not compromise. He resigned.

DeGaulle has an inexorable singleness of purpose. And once he sets his sights on an objective he will not look the other way—even for power.

That trait alone would disqualify him as a potential dictator. He won't make deals. He won't trade horses. And if he owns a back-scratcher he has never been known to use it.

Nor has he ever kissed any babies. Those homey little acts that are supposed to win the heart—and the vote—of the common man are not for Charles DeGaulle.

HE IS A LONELY MAN who holds himself aloof in pure. Usually he is brusque, cold and unbending. If he has any sense of the value of publicity which is doubtful, he scorns it. He doesn't like to have his picture taken and I have seen him simply rise without a word, and walk out of a press conference. He had said all he wanted to say and he wasn't bothering with the amenities.

His mental powers are unquestioned. History may show that he had an almost clairvoyant vision of the future of Europe.

But my personal opinion is that [illegible] never record against his name the words "traitor."

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — THE handlebar mustache and the nigh button shoe have long since made their exit. But the masher is still with us, a part of the scenery as he was when Casey went to bat.

And just like Casey he's still striking out.

The grown-up street masher by his gaudy necktie and loud checkered vest is a far cry from the dapper Dan of the gay nineties who doffed his derby to the ladies and twirled his cane as he strolled down the boardwalk.

That would be too old-fashioned for the teen-agers, who have a new word for everything. They call him a wolf.

But whatever he is called the technique hasn't changed much. Before he scared grandma out of her bustle on her way from church practice.

Hal Boyle

In her day she was a kind of "fancy Dan" in a boater straw, checked vest and peg-top trousers who frequently dangled an ivory toothpick from his watch chain. When she sashayed past the leering beast in human form would bow across her wide bustle and greet her with such pet names as "Hello kid" or "Twenty-three skidoo."

Any girl who bowed him out with a slight nod, one hand on the hip, was a fast mover. If she pushed his face away she gave him a bang over the head with her parasol or took him off with a haughty sniff and remained in the lavender and old lace period.

THE DAMSEL OF TODAY dresses in her parasol not at the skewer but that hasn't cut down the occupational hazards of mashing. The dainty dish who leaves the mashers wandering eyes in a sad state may be a veritable ex-wolfess in armor. She may have stormed ashore as a lady Marine. The new look can look a lot like net muscle.

But true to this tradition the masher stays on the prowl.

Times Square is one of his favorite hunting grounds in New York. He still favors the knife crease in the pants, but he's traded the pegtops for slacks and the checkered vest for a high-decibel sport coat. The straw hat is gone. His locks are now oiled with super-octane pomade and bared to the night winds.

You can see these curbstone playboys hovering at every corner under the lights of the great white way. They're more mobile than an grandma's time moving along through the crowds and falling in sidestep formation with any passing skirt.

THEIR REPARTEE is as brilliant and trenchant as ever. The three standbys:

(1) "What's your sign, Babe?"

(2) "Where you going, Dream boat?"

(3) "Where you been all my life, Honey?"

There are three typical replies they get:

(1) "Get out of town."

(2) "Beat it, small change."

(3) "Scram, stupid. I'm trying to breathe."

There are days when even the most confirmed wolf will turn away with a sigh. Nothing curbs the masher's breath quicker than a well-groomed honest companion. And the modern girl passing on the Great White Way is often just that.

OCCASIONALLY one of these street-side swains reaches deep in his mashing prime and pulls out the greeting that was old when Mark Antony was ringing Cleopatra's doorbell.

"Haven't we met somewhere before?"

I heard a wolf howl it the other night in a bobby sox on Broadway. He loped off looking like a ram-faced poodle when she snapped:

"How could I meet a va dope? I never been dead."

Bucyrus Mother Still Held in Juvenile Court

BUCYRUS, June 12—No effort to furnish bond for Mrs. Lillian Collins, 38, Bucyrus mother has been made and indications are that she will remain in Crawford county jail until a hearing is held next week on a charge she chained three of her children to the stairs of her home here.

The case will not be scheduled for hearing until Judge Keller returns from a court refresher school at Kent State university next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Collins was taken into custody Monday after Marvin Adams, superintendent of the Crawford county children's home found two of the three older children chained to the stairs. A third child told Adams that she had been similarly chained on previous occasions.

The mother told Adams that she chained the children to keep them at home and prevent their stealing.

Your Good Health

Appetite No Guide to Proper Diet

Many people believe that appetite is the best guide to good eating. The body's need for a particular food they feel will stimulate the appetite for it. Since this is by no means true they are largely kidding themselves when they reason further that if they eat what they like, they will inevitably get all the food elements necessary to good health.

To demonstrate more clearly how unreliable appetite alone can be as a guide to a proper diet some recent studies were carried out with animal subjects.

It was found that the animals did seem to have some sort of an ability to select certain minerals and vitamins on the basis of what they needed. But when it came to protein foods such as are obtained from meat, eggs, fish and milk their appetite was definitely not an adequate guide. Some of the animals were so far off that they reached the point of starvation from lack of protein even when the proteins they needed were in food containers in their cages and to be had for the eating.

Proteins are needed for building new tissues and replacing the worn-out ones. Animals from the same litter differed as to the foods they selected. One animal might select a fairly good diet for itself but a brother from the same litter, living under the same conditions, would not choose the necessary foods.

Thus if an male under laboratory conditions can be guided only to some extent by appetite in selecting necessary foods, it would seem far less likely that human beings would be guided by appetite alone in selecting foods to make up a well balanced diet. This is particularly true in view of the many artificial and highly processed foods which constitute a great part of the diets common in every city.

This does not mean that the appetite should be disregarded entirely. It only indicates that it is important for persons to know what foods supply the necessary vitamins, minerals and proteins and to make sure that these foods are included in the daily diet.

A well balanced diet can be built around such foods as a pint of milk a day for every adult and a quart for the child, an egg a day, one serving of meat, fish or poultry, two servings of vegetables and fruits, whole-grain cereals and butter or fortified margarine.

NEW KENTON ARMORY BIDS ASKED BY STATE

Special to The Star

KENTON, June 12—Bids for reconstruction of the Kenton National Guard armory gutted by fire last Dec. 17 were asked of private contractors today by the office of the adjutant general.

Bids will be accepted until 11 a. m. July 16 and it is expected they will be opened soon afterward.

The new structure will occupy the same area of the old building but space will be rearranged so as to facilitate occupancy by the military unit.

Although plans include the use of some of the walls still standing, the roof will be lowered and a balcony will be placed only across the west end rather than all around the building as previously.

The new building will be made fireproof and modernized and a garage will be placed in the basement to accommodate vehicles of Co. E, 148th Inf., Kenton National Guard unit.

Specifications are on file in the Adjutant General's office at Ft. Hayes and in the office of the Auditor of State.

REVEALS JET PLANE FASTER THAN SOUND

By The United Press

NEW YORK, June 12—A second U S Air Force jet plane has flown faster than the speed of sound, Aviation Week magazine reported today

The air force already has stated officially that the speed of the XF-86 is over 650 miles per hour the magazine states "which makes it the fastest turbo-jet-powered aircraft in the world surpassing the world speed record of 650 6 miles per hour held by the Douglas D-558 1 Skystreak"

The magazine stated that the new plane is now in production at Inglewood Calif, as the F-86A

The craft is armed with six 50 caliber machine guns, the magazine stated "and carries a variety of aircraft rockets several light bombs or two 1 000 pound bombs additional machine gun packages of jettisonable fuel tanks

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

DAN DAILEY AND BARBARA LAWRENCE listen spellbound as Charles Winninger as he predicts the glory of vaudevilles Broadway" which opens Friday for seven days at the Ohio Fay Bainter who plays Winninger's wife and fellow trouper looks on hopefully

"Summer Holiday" On Palace Screen

"Summer Holiday" the screen version of Eugene O'Neill's Broadway drama, "Ah Wilderness," opens Sunday for a three-day run at the Palace theater.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation stars Mickey Rooney and Gloria DeHaven in the lead roles with the supporting cast including Walter Huston and Frank Morgan the latter in a role he plays best, that of an easy going addict of the bottled spirits.

The story concerns the adolescent love affairs of Richard Miller (Mickey Rooney) son of a small town newspaper publisher played by Walter Huston. He is concerned with two problems, the hoped for political significance of the varied toty address he is to give at his coming graduation from high school and his affection for winsome Muriel McComber (Gloria DeHaven) daughter of the town's leading merchant.

Uncle Sid (Frank Morgan) also has his problems including Cousin Lily (Agnes Moorehead) who promises to be his if he can reform. Both young Richard and Uncle Sid make the grade in the end despite best laid plans gang astray.

Showing Wednesday and Thursday will be Frank Buck's original wild animal hunt, "Bring 'Em Back Alive." The Palace is one of the 92 theaters to present the midwest premiere showing of Buck's Malayan jungle expedition, filmed while in progress by Clyde E. Elliott.

The film depicts Buck's successful efforts in bringing into captivity the wild animals of the type seen behind iron bars at the zoos and in circuses. Among the long list of wild animals and reptiles sought and caught by the filming expedition are Bengal tigers, elephants and water buffalo.

Including also are action shots black panthers a 30-foot python of the jungle denizens battling for survival, python against tiger, panther versus crocodile, stampeding elephants. The film depicts the entire trip from the expedition's first entry into the Malay jungles to its triumphal return to the States bearing prized specimens for American zoos.

A double-feature bill Friday and Saturday brings to the Palace screen Eddie Cantor and Joan Davis in the musical comedy "If You Knew Susie," plus the comedy thriller "Who Killed Doc Robbin?"

The former a laugh loaded musical of the fortunes and misfortunes of two ex-vaudevillians (Cantor and Davis) who try to turn their ancestral manse into a night club, combines laughter with music and romance with satire and adds up to a sparkling musical paced by five hit tunes.

Labelled as the merriest Hal Roach comedy yet, "Who Killed Doc Robbin" involves the solving of a murder mystery by the "Our Gang" kids for the benefit of the romantic leads Virginia Grey and Don Castle. The film is done in cinecolor.

Story of Indian Country at Ohio

Victor Mature and Colleen Gray romantic team of the recent gangland thriller "Kiss of Death," join forces again in the western thriller "Fury at Furnace Creek" which opened yesterday at the Ohio theater and will stay through Thursday. A saga of vengeance and heroism set in the Apache country in 1880 it tells the tale of two brothers who battle to clear the name of their father who was "framed by some bad men of a silver syndicate. Mature and Dean Jagger are the brothers, while Colleen Gray is a beautiful hash house operator and lady of the evening. Reginald Gardiner is an excitable officer who knew all the answers to the mystery right along. A bang up massacre and the burning of the fort will provide action for the thrill lovers.

Dan Dailey famed for his nimble feet had to take training in juggling to make his hands as dextrous for his turn as a star of the "Two a day in "Give My Regards to Broadway" which opens for seven days at the Ohio starting next Friday.

A fat role of an old vaudevillian who is father of Dancing Dan" falls to Charles Winninger. Blond Barbara Lawrence plays Dan's sister and Fay Bainter his mother in the tuneful tale of a family of jugglers and loafers who refused to hear the death knell of vaudeville.

Nancy Guild is the feminine divertissement who lures Dailey from his juggling practice. If you are old enough to remember an afternoon stolen from reality looking at the wonders of vaudeville in the days when Keith was king of the Orpheum circuit then this is for you. This role marks Charles Winninger's fiftieth year in show business.

Lowly Richmond Takes Cubs in Doubleheader to Sweep Series

Special to The Star

RICHMOND, Ind., June 12—Lew Bekeza's Marion Cubs left here for Muncie today probably wondering just what had happened to them in the last two days. The Cubs, who play single games at Muncie Saturday, Sunday and Monday, lost a twin bill to the cellar-dwelling Richmond Braves here Friday night, 3-1, and 8-4.

The double win gave the Braves all three games with the Cubs and shoved Bekeza's boys into fifth place in the Ohio-Indiana league.

Right-handed, red-haired Jim Edgar tried the iron-man stunt Friday night, but instead of winning two games, he lost two.

Edgar pitched well in the opener, giving up five hits. But in the nightcap he was pasted for 11 blows in six innings. He gave way to lefty Frank Marchelli, who fanned the side in the seventh frame.

Marion's only run in the first game came on a tremendous inside-the-park home run in the first inning by right fielder Bill Boelander.

Shortstop Dale Schnepf's three-bagger featured Marion's attack in the windup.

Edgar's double loss gives him a 2-3 record for the season. Oner Jette, southpaw who won the seven-inning opener, now has a 1-2 mark for the Braves.

The winner in the second game was righty Pete Swain, who got off the train from class C Eau Claire, Wis., at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Jette's triple won the opener, coming in the third with a man on base. He then scored on a long fly.

First baseman Bob Brown's four-for-four night made things easier for Swain in the nightcap. Swain won 13 games with Richmond in 1947.

Western Michigan To Meet Illinois Today

By The Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 12—Western Michigan and Illinois tangle today for the fourth NCAA district baseball title and the right to play in the eastern NCAA finals at Winston-Salem, N. C., next week.

Western Michigan advanced through yesterday's semi-final round by upsetting Michigan—co-champion of the Big Nine with Illinois—6 to 3 with a five run eighth inning.

The Illini downed Ohio University 6-2 behind Marv Robblatt's three hit job.

PITCHERS MAKE NEWS IN O-I LEAGUE GAMES

By The Associated Press

Hitters usually are the big news in the Ohio-Indiana baseball league, but the hurlers grabbed the loop limelight last night.

At Springfield, where the Giants held their league lead with a 7-2 verdict over Newark's surging Yankees, Tim Shindell and Jennings Norman combined for a lanky one-hitter.

Jim Edgar tossed a neat five-hitter for Marion, but Richmond, the host club, took the decision, 3-1, in the first game of a double bill and then went on to take the nightcap, 8-4. Edgar started both games and was charged with both losses.

Pete Swain, a large youth who dropped into Richmond on the 3 p. m. bus from Eau Claire, Wis., yesterday, pitched that nightcap and effectively scattered seven Marion hits.

Then there was Ed Morris at Portsmouth, who won a 6-5 nod over Zanesville, although he allowed 11 safe blows, the same number Lidio Tallesi of Zanesville was permitting.

In the league's other contest, Muncie knocked off Lima, 10-5.

Until the fifth, Shindell had the Newark hitters right where his right arm wanted them. Then second baseman John Copsic of Newark clubbed out a single.

That was the only hit off Shindell, but in the seventh, he walked a man, threw wild on another play and walked a second man. Then is when Norman came in to pitch hitless ball the rest of the way.

The Springfield win snapped an eight-game Newark streak.

The line scores:

Zanesville	100 001 000—2 11 4
Portsmouth	201 001 10x—4 11 4

Tallesi and Parker; Morris and Sicoloff, Hasen (7).

Muncie	004 002 01x—10 9 4

Newark	000 000 300—3 1 1

CITATION GOES AFTER BELMONT TEST TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 12 — Citation, Calumet Farm's wonder horse which took the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness with ease, today will go after the $100,000 Belmont Stakes, the final test in racing's Triple Crown.

A crowd of 60,000 is expected to jam majestic Belmont course to see if what everybody says about the Calumet speedster is true.

Eight others, including Citation's stablemate, Coaltown, have been entered for the mile and one-half test for three-year-olds.

How many will parade postward at 4:45 p. m. (EDT), remains to be seen.

Others entered were Glen Riddle Farms' Faraway, W. L. Brann's Escadru, Belair Stud's Golden Light, A. J. Sackett's Gasparilla, C. V. Whitney's Vulcan's Forge, William Helis' Salmagundi, and King Ranch's Better Self.

Several factors will enter into the size of the field. Among them are the weather, which may be showery, track conditions and the presence of Coaltown. With nine in the race it would not the winner $78,700. Few expect Coaltown to start.

Most likely explanation is the distance of the Belmont, which is the toughest nut to crack in the Triple Crown quest. The Derby is a mile and a quarter, and the Preakness a mile and three sixteenths.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who rode Citation to victory in the Derby and Preakness will be seeking to become the first rider ever to have two Triple Crown horses. Arcaro won with Calumet's Whirlaway in 1941.

Legion Juniors To Try Again To Open '48 Baseball Season

The American Legion Junior Baseball team, after two unsuccessful starts, will again endeavor to launch the current baseball season when they trip to Mt. Vernon today, Coach Nelson Irvin announced. It will be the first game of a weekend double hill. The Juniors will try Shelby, also away, Sunday.

In two previous attempts to open the season the young Legion baseballers were thwarted by the withdrawal of Mt. Gilead from the Sixth District league in the first and by inclement weather in a game scheduled with Lima last Sunday in the second.

The elements permitting, the team will play their Sixth District inaugural with Mt. Vernon today at 3 p. m. Tomorrow's game is not a league contest.

Starting in the pitcher's role for the Juniors today will be either Ramon Larcom of Waldo High school or Jim Edington of Edison Junior High. Whoever doesn't work today will take the mound in tomorrow's game.

Starting Lineup

Jim Reiter will handle catching duties, and the remainder of the lineup will consist of Jack Daum on the initial sack, Dick Leffler at second, Dick Wolfe, shortstop, and Don Corby at third.

In the outfield will be George Stiffler, centerfielder, Bill Nickol, rightfielder, and Merle Daum, Bill Marchant or Emmet Ledford in the leftfield pasture.

Coach Irvin had some tough luck in losing three promising players to a railroad section gang. Dick Thomas, shortstop, Dick Roseberry, second sacker, and Tom Taylor, left fielder, decided to try a stint on the paddy gang.

Ronny Larcom carries quite a record with him from Waldo High school ball, boasting 118 strikeouts in 87 innings—or 119 of 171 men to face him. That leaves only 52 men who escaped, and figures down to a little better than two strikeouts per inning, according to the figures quoted by young Larcom.

Nothing is known about the opposition Mt. Vernon will field, but Shelby is reputed to have a better than average team. In two games last year Marion downed the Shelby nine on both occasions.

Newark Downs Sunbury

In the only game played in the Sixth District circuit, Newark Legion downed the Sunbury nine at Sunbury, 8-4, Wednesday. Bob Barnes twirled the first eight innings for Newark, whiffing 17.

Marion will not make its home town debut until a week from today, when Mansfield will be guest here in a non-league engagement.

On July 11, W. E. Orcutt, club manager announced today, the locals will be host to the champion of a Junior American Legion elimination tournament to be run in Detroit, July 7. Word of the date set was received by Ralph Schick, Lincoln-Mercury dealer and cosponsor of the local team, yesterday.

THE most significant goings on in the Ohio-Indiana league the past week has been the sudden surge of the re-vitalized Newark Yankees who were in the league cellar nine games ago but who started pulling ahead at the quarter, winning eight straight and playing like pennant contenders.

A week hence the Marion Cubs will run into the Yankees for five games, the first two at Newark's Arnold park, and the next three here Saturday and Sunday.

Then the Marion fans will get their first look at the Ohio-Indiana league's "new look" team, whose personnel has changed so completely since the beginning of the season that only one player, excluding pitchers, that started with them is still on the squad. Their revamped lineup reads to date: Eddie Heck at first, Johnny Kopsic, second; Joe Eaton, short; Tube Washburn, third; Tim Mahoney catcher; John Krochina, left; Sal Sasso, center, and Bob Ogle, right. In addition, the Yanks have come up with some new mound material one of the most promising of which is a southpaw pitcher, Martin Kossover.

AN ESTIMATED 2,000 fans watched the Lima Terriers nick Portsmouth 8-7 at Lima's Halloran park Wednesday night. Of the total, 2,000 were kids—guests of three Lima locals of the UAW-CIO, who not only took the youngsters to the ball game, but filled them up with refreshments as well.

THE BEST HIGH school basketball players in Ohio will meet the cream of Kentucky's crop in a pair of games this month, and maybe the results will prove which state turns out the best cagers. The games will be played June 25 and 26, the first at Bowling Green, Ky., and the second in Middletown. It will be the first of an annual Ohio-Kentucky All-Star clash.

The Blue Grassers haven't yet named their team, but on the Buckeye squad are Dick Messner of Ashland, Dick Retherford of Newark, Glen (Golden Boy) Hurlbey of Glenford, Bob Pager of Salem, Al Steegman of Findlay, Jim Holstein and Norm Grovey of Hamilton Catholic and Shelby Linville, George McChesney, and Ron Adkins, all of Middletown, a truly great selection of basketball talent.

The Bucks will be coached by Paul Walker, colorful young mentor of the Middletown Middies. Ed Diddle, coach at Western State Teachers college, will pilot the Snake Staters.

Boston Braves Move into Lead With 7 to 3 Win Over Cardinals

Long-suffering Boston fans have two winners to cheer today—the first place Braves and Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

Billy Southworth's Braves, a pre-season pennant pick of many experts, finally edged into the lead in the rough-and-tumble National league scramble by downing St. Louis last night, 7-3.

Williams puffed his batting average to .365 by driving in seven runs in the Red Sox' 13-4 romp over the Chicago White Sox. Even at this early date, it is not difficult to picture a .400 season for the slim slugger.

The Braves' feat probably will attract the most attention for the well-balanced club was fifth a week ago. Then it started a winning streak that is still growing at six.

Cubs Drop Giants

Ralph Hamner, a non-winner until yesterday, dropped New York out of the lead when he pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory. Allowing only six hits, three by Wesley Lockman Hamner outpitched loser Andy Hansen.

Cincinnati's prize rookie, Herman Wehmeier, chalked up his fifth straight success with a five-hit job against Philadelphia, 12-1. Johnny Wyrostek led the 13-run spree against his old teammates with two homers, a double and a single.

Leo Durocher was banished by umpire Al Barlick before the ball game started in Pittsburgh by the Brooklyn Dodgers, nevertheless, went 13 innings to trim the Pirates, 3-2.

Cleveland drew first blood in its important four-game series with the New York Yankees by clubbing the world champs, 10-2, before 67,824 Yankee stadium customers. The game was enlivened by a five-minute barrage of beer cans, rubber balls and paper cartons when umpire Cal Hubbard banished catcher Yogi Berra in the fourth inning.

Bobby Feller came out of the bullpen to turn back a Yankee threat in the last of the ninth after Joe DiMaggio hit his 11th homer.

Big Guns

Williams was the big gun of the surging Red Sox who have won seven of their last eight games. Ted doubled three times, driving in a pair with each one and received credit for a seventh RBI when he was walked with the bases loaded. Jack Kramer lasted all the way, although yielding 10 White Sox hits, to defeat Frank Papish.

Philadelphia playing at home moved ahead of the Yankees into second place, three games behind Cleveland, by a 6-5 shade over St. Louis.

Art Houtteman finally broke into the win circle as a relief pitcher after eighth straight defeats when Detroit nosed out Washington, 7-6, in 10 innings in the capital.

WEHMEIER STEALING BLACKIE'S THUNDER

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., June 12 — A tall, handsome right-hander named Herman Ralph Wehmeier is stealing the thunder from Redleg ace Ewell Blackwell.

Wehmeier, a six-foot two-inch 200-pounder, won his fifth straight victory without loss for Cincinnati yesterday to become the winningest pitcher in the majors.

The 21-year-old native Cincinnatian wasn't considered much more than a doubtful regular at the start of the season but his current string far overshadows Blackwell's 3-1 record.

Redleg fans talk of Hermie as another Bucky Walters. He's a fast pitcher and works like the Buck of old.

Yesterday he threw a five-hitter at the Philadelphia Phillies for a 12-1 victory.

Centerfielder Johnny Wyrostek clubbed two homers, a double and a single for a perfect day at the plate.

The Reds ending a three-game losing streak, counted two runs on starter Ken Heintzelman in the third inning and then belted three other Philadelphia hurlers for 10 markers in the route, seventh and eighth frames.

SAM SNEAD LEADS FIELD IN U. S. OPEN

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES, June 12—Sam Snead, confident that the long-elusive National Open golf championship was at last within his grasp after a decade of disappointment, led the way into the final 36 holes of play today on the tough Riviera course.

With a record total of 136 stroke for the first 36-holes boosting him into first place by one stroke, Snead was still as sure of victory as he was two days ago when he said he "couldn't miss this time."

The jitters that cost him the title in 1939 when he blew up with an eight on the last hole and again last year when he muffed a two-foot putt on the last hole were missing yesterday and Thursday as he fired 69, two-under-par, each day. The 138 total erased the old open record of 139 he held jointly with Chick Evans.

But Snead was far from out of the woods with 36 holes to go. Clattering on his heels each with cards of 139, were tourney favorite Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and South African Star Bobby Locke. A field of 57 went into the final round, each qualifying with 148 or better.

Lew Worsham, the defending champion from Pittsburgh, Pa., soared to 74 and was three strokes off Snead's pace at 141.

In the 141 bracket with Worsham were such expert shotmakers as Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Frank Stranahan, the British amateur champion from Toledo, O., Charley Congdon of Tacoma, Wash., and George Schneiter of Ogden, Utah.

Targets To Get Tougher At Vandalia Trapshoot Today

By The Associated Press

VANDALIA, O., June 12—The targets will be a trifle tricky today in Ohio's 52nd annual championship trapshoot.

After three days of firing at single targets from 16 yards, the Buckeye realm's scattergun artists—plus some 150 invaders from other states—will concentrate on doubles and handicaps today.

In the picturesque doubles competition two targets are tossed simultaneously, and anyone who misses three or four of the 100 flying clays on the "boom-bang" basis will finish among the also-rans.

The guy to beat is Joe Hiestand, the Hillsboro farmer, although Ralph W. Smith of Vandalia is defending champion. Joe, former national king at the twin targets, broke 49 of 50 in a tune-up this week.

The other competition on today's slate is a 100-target handicap affair, preliminary to tomorrow's windup feature over the same route. In the handicap the shooters are placed anywhere from 16 to 23 yards from where the flying discs emerge from the traps, the handicap yardage being determined by the known ability and 16-yard target averages of the entrants.

The new champions:

Men's state singles: Roy Davidson, 43-year-old Middletown auto agency manager, who missed his 100th target but broke 199 of 200. Defending champion Hiestand tied for second with 198, with Napoleon Meletti of Alton, Ill. Bernie Judd, Hamilton, was seventh with 196.

Cleveland Wins Ohio Golf Title

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, June 12 — Tony Vitt, 51-year-old Cleveland funeral director, is the new Ohio senior golf champion today.

Vitt's 77-72—149 card in the 36-hole event dethroned Allen Rankin of Columbus yesterday.

Rankin, the National senior king and three-time Ohio champ, was second with 75-77—152.

Vitt is a six-time champion of Cleveland's Sleepy Hollow club. He lost the club title last year to his son, Nick. John Carroll university links captain.

Glenn Mesder of Columbus was third with a 156 aggregate. Fourth place was shared at 157 by R. C. Garretson of Ashland, Dr. W. R. Kampfer of Columbus and Joe Wells of East Liverpool.

Low gross winners in age classes were Vitt in Class A; Wells in Class B; W. R. Hair, Hamilton, Class C, M. D. Smith of Steubenville, Class D; and R. M. Noll, Marietta, Class E.

AL LYONS BRINGS WIN TO BREWERS

By The Associated Press

Pitcher Al Lyons, 30-year-old major league castoff on the comeback trail, pitched and batted Milwaukee to victory Friday night to keep the Brewers hot on the heels of Indianapolis, the American Association leader.

The hefty righthander who won two games and lost five while serving the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates last season, slammed a two-run homer to give the Brews a 5-3 count over Louisville. It was the cellar-dwelling Colonel's eight straight setback.

Lyons relieved starter Norman Roy in the seventh with the bases full and none out. He retired nine batsmen in order.

Indianapolis maintained a 4½ game edge by belting Minneapolis 15-8. Les Fleming was the big gun, blasting a two-run triple and a grand slam homer in consecutive innings.

St. Paul climbed to within ½ game of matching Milwaukee's second place spot by sweeping a doubleheader from Toledo, 7-4 and 9-3. Roy Campanella's ninth circuit blow of the season accounted for two runs in the last of the seventh to break a tie and provide a win in the short opener. The Saints backed Jack Peeples's eight hitter with a four run outburst in the first inning of the nightcap.

The Blues and Columbus split at Kansas City. The fourth-place Red Birds took the opener 3-1 although limited to three hits by Bill Wood. Kansas City won the closer 5-3 after Columbus tied the score in the sixth on successive homers by Tommy Glaviano and Bill Baker.

CLEVELAND INDIANS CLUB YANKEES, 10-8

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 12—Yankee Stadium where the Cleveland Indians invariably stub their toe looked like just another ball park to the Tribe today.

With a doubleheader on their hands this afternoon the Indians at least could pinch themselves reassuringly and say that

They were were ahead of the Yankees by four games they leave town come what may with ahead of them they were in first place by three games (ahead of Philadelphia), and they won a game 10 to 8 last night featuring a rain of beer cans on the umpire real rain and three Yankee home runs.

Bob Feller came through last night in the ninth inning against the Yanks, but the victory went to the pitcher who replaced him, as No 1—Bob Lemon. Coming into the game in the ninth he promptly loaded the bases by yielding an infield hit, and forced in a man by walking Phil Rizzuto. He then fanned pinch hitter Sherman Lollar and ended the game.

Lemon now the top pitcher in the league in point of games won (nine) retired for a pinch hitter in the seventh when the Tribe collected four runs.

Oh yes—the beer cans. Umpire Cal Hubbard fired Yank catcher Yogi Berra from the game in the fourth inning in an argument. Fans threw beer cans, cartons and paper at Hubbard. The umpire survived.
